1961 had the highest price of the five-year period for a single lot: £62,000 ($171,600) for the XIII century Psalter, written in Switzerland, Diocese of Constance, and sold in the third and last part of the C. W. Dyson Perrins collection. In the same year, the Helmingham Herbal and Bestiary, written and illustrated in England, late XV century, brought £33,000 ($92,000). The contemporary manuscript transcripts of Captain James Cook's Log Book of his First Voyage, 1768-71, and the Journal of his Second Voyage, 1772-75, in two volumes, each signed and inscribed by Cook, brought £53,000 ($148,400). Among the printed books were the first issue of Cervantes's "Don Quixote", Madrid, 1605-15, the Oscar B. Cintas copy, $44,000; and, the Shakespeare Four Folios, 1623-32-64-85, the Bemis-Wolf set, £18,000 ($50,400).

1962 had manuscripts in the highest brackets again. An album of 50 watercolor drawings of flowers, with a leaf of text, 1585, by Jacques Le Moyne de Morgues, brought £13,000 ($36,400); the manuscript Poetical Notebook of Shelley (the "Esdaile" notebook), brought £10,000 ($28,000). The highest price for a printed book was realized for Balbus's "Catholicon", Mainz, 1460, £12,000 ($33,600).

1963 had the printed book in the highest brackets. A first edition of Chaucer's "Canterbury Tales", printed by William Caxton, 1478, (containing 290 of 374 leaves), the Lilly copy, brought $47,000; and two Colard Mansion imprints, Bruges, 1476-77, "Disticha Catonis", and, "Dicta Philosophorum", bound together, $48,500. The autograph manuscript of Joseph Conrad's novel, "Victory", brought $21,000.

1964 had manuscripts again at the top. A Persian illuminated manuscript of Farid-al-Din's "The Language of Birds", 1483, brought £18,000 ($50,400). A complete collection of the extant manuscripts of Graham Greene, sold in 23 lots, brought £14,550 ($40,740). The highest price for a printed book was reached by "Biblia . . . durch Martin Luther", Augsburg, 1535, £5,800 ($16,240).

1965 also had a manuscript at the top: Robert Herrick's Commonplace Book, circa 1612-24, brought £34,000 ($95,200). The highest prices for printed books were reached by a second edition (first illustrated) of Chaucer's "Canterbury Tales", printed by William Caxton, circa 1484, (with 276 of 312 leaves), £30,000 ($84,000); and, the Shakespeare Four Folios, 1623-32-64-85, the John M. Robertson set, £23,000 ($64,400).

Sotheby & Company, as the largest auction house in the world, offered "the greatest books, the greatest manuscripts", in the greatest number. Its 274 sessions of book-sales in our five-year period realized a total of £4,321,347 ($12,099,969). The figures below give a picture of the four houses on which we have definite figures.

Complete figures on the other houses were not available, except for Charles Hamilton Autographs, and the sale of the F. G. Coles collection of Australiana. Mr. Hamilton added auction sales to his activities in the autograph field, beginning with one sale in 1963, and continuing with three sales in 1964 and four sales in 1965. His eight sales grossed $355,073. The sale in Melbourne consisted of 1,284 lots and realized A£44,022 ($99,050). Swann Galleries, Inc., certainly grossed over $1,000,000 from its 132 sessions. The 57 book sales held by the other five houses added about another quarter of a million dollars to the totals given above, making a grand total of close to $21,000,000 for 743 sessions.

The sales summarized in this volume surpassed every five-year period since 1930, both in totals realized and in volume of books and manuscripts offered. As in the past, books in all fields are here represented: early printed books; great and small Americana; literature — American, English, Continental; exploration and travel; color plate books of every variety; great and small works of science; etc. There was a startling increase in the number of scientific books offered (and in prices realized). The scientific books included medical works, mathematica, astronomy, chemistry, botanica and general natural history, etc. The illuminated manuscripts were headed by the sale of the third and last part of the C. W. Dyson Perrins collection (Parts I and II were sold in 1959 and 1960), and this sale was followed in the next four seasons with other great offerings. Among the many sales of autographs and manuscripts there were large and important collections of modern literary manuscripts.

A change in the operational procedure of the two major auction houses occurred in July 1964, when, at a stockholders meeting of the Parke-Bernet Galleries "it was agreed in principle that the controlling interest should be sold to Sotheby and Company of London . . ." Since that time Parke-Bernet has operated as an affiliate of Sotheby.

This Index, arranged in the order of the annual volumes of "American Book-Prices Current" 1961 through 1965 (Vols 67-71), follows the pattern of the preceding Index which covered sales from July 1955 through June 1960.

Under the headings, the one-em dash signifies the main entry; subentries (rebound copies, later issues, limited editions, etc.) are paragraphed without the use of the dash, and editions subsequent to the main entry are indented two ems, and each new edition is begun on a separate line. A remark pertaining to a price follows the price, appended with a hyphen. Errors and blunders found in the annual volumes have been corrected in this volume without comment.

The explanatory remarks appended to prices, together with many others pertaining to condition, binding, printers, illustrators, etc., will enable the initiated to gain required information as to price, condition, and many other factors, without having to refer to the annual volumes of the series. For full information as to date and place of sale, descriptions of defects, and other matters, the user should consult the full entries in the annuals. The "Notes on Arrangement" on the pages following, explain in detail the pattern of this work.

NOTES ON THE ARRANGEMENT OF THIS WORK

This priced Index to "American Book-Prices Current" follows the pattern of the priced Indexes 1923-32; 1933-40; 1941-45; 1945-50; 1950-55; 1955-60. The arrangement is that of the annual volumes, 1961 through 1965, covering the five years from September 1960 through August 1965, and it follows the four-part division used in the annuals: I, Books; II, Autographs & Manuscripts; III, Broadsides; IV, Maps.

BOOKS (Part I of the Index) are arranged alphabetically by author, or in the case of anonymous works by the first word of title. Under the author's name his works are listed alphabetically by title, the various editions chronologically, with undated items at end of each respective group. Complete or collected works of an author are placed at the end of the alphabetical list of individual titles. Condensed titles are often used. A few entries are under subject headings, e.g., "Costume", "Trials", and these are cross-indexed. Press Books and Club Publications (with some minor exceptions) are under the name of the issuing Press or Club, arranged by author.

The main entries are readily identified by a one-em dash. Sub-entries (rebound copies, later states, limited editions, etc.) are paragraphed, without the use of the dash. Editions subsequent to the main entry are indented two ems, and each is begun on a separate line.

Following the title of each work is the year of publication, when known; then, in parentheses, the year of the volume of "American Book-Prices Current" in which entry will be found; then price or prices realized. The volume years as shown in parentheses are abbreviated: 1961 is shown as (61), 1962 as (62), and so forth.

Place of publication is given on all books printed in countries other than Great Britain and the United States, and on books printed in America before 1820; it is also given in many instances on American and British books where the entry will be clarified as to edition, etc.

Incunabula are listed with place of printing and printer (when known) immediately following title. The Hain number or other pertinent reference follows the date.

NOTES

Many important or difficult items are arranged according to their original state: books first issued in parts, or wrappers, or boards, or cloth, are grouped before copies which have been rebound, or in poor condition. In some cases all are grouped together, but notes are then appended to the prices.

Prices out of the ordinary have appended to them a clue in the form of a short statement, to give the user a reason for the variation. Such statements are often abbreviated, e.g., "inscr", meaning inscribed by the author; "def", or "imperf", or "w.a.f.", meaning defective, imperfect, with all faults. Terms used to denote value out of the ordinary because of leather binding are "in binding"; "calf (or morocco), extra"; "extra binding"; "special binding"; "armorial binding"; or, "with the arms of ———"; or the name of the binder is given.

English sales prices are given in Pounds Sterling, indicated by £, in this period being the equivalent of $2.80. Australian sales prices are indicated by A£, the equivalent being $2.25.

AUTOGRAPHS & MANUSCRIPTS (Part II of the Index) are arranged in two sections: Section I contains Early Illuminated Manuscripts, Early Manuscript Texts of Historical and Literary Importance, etc.; Section II contains Literary Manuscripts, Typescripts, Autograph Letters, Letters, signed, and Documents, Original Drawings, etc.

"Autograph Mss", and "Typescripts" are arranged alphabetically by title under author heading; Letters, Documents, etc., are listed chronologically under author. Items of an unusual nature are described briefly.

BROADSIDES (Part III of the Index) are under subject headings.

MAPS (Part IV of the Index) are arranged geographically, and listed chronologically under the geographical headings.

The explanatory terms used in this work are common to the trade, and will enable the user to gain required information as to price, condition, and many other factors, without having to refer to the annual volumes of "American Book-Prices Current". However, in cases of doubt, all users are urged to consult the full entries in the annuals.
